Manufactured Provided Description

The 230 BR is packed with features that can satisfy any fisherman, from the casual weekend sportsman to the tournament champion. This boat shares the tremendous rod storage capability of the 210 BR, and the added length and beam provide a lot more open cockpit space. Those factors combined with added depth, both inside and out, creates a great inshore boat with reasonable open water capability. Whether you are a recreational fisherman or a hardcore tournament angler, there is a Bay Reef to fit you. Every model includes two standard livewells, accommodation for even the longest fly rods, and the most storage and deck space in its class. The Bay Reef series also sports a bit less draft for improved performance and a great ride.
