YACHT DESCRIPTION AND DETAILS

Main Salon:

The main salon layout was designed with the full beam exterior in mind. The main seating area in the salon is floated in the middle of the room. This allows for inconspicuous service from your crew and access for and aft through the interior for all, without walking through the middle of salon when others are conversing or watching TV.

The port aft corner has a beautiful curving bar with a Portoro Gold Marble top and (4) swivel barstools. There is another social area to the starboard that consist of (2) swivel chairs that can be pulled over to the huge TV or left on the side for a private chat.

The sophisticated hi-gloss cherry cabinetry is accented by premium cut Lace Wood cabinet tops and featured on the vertical banding on the face of the cabinets. The forward buffet also has the Portoro Gold Marble top, same as the aft bar. The Lace Wood is a very "active" veneer; the grain pattern captures and reflects light differently from each direction. Lace Wood is from Australia and is also known as "Queensland Silky Oak".

The overall feeling of the room is soft, luxurious and subtly contemporary, this also follows right through to the carpet selection. The carpet is a Tactase nylon Dupont product, from Fabrica, that was manufactured to emulate a hand woven wool. It has all the uneven loops and bumps a hand made product has but none of the maintenance issues of wool. The carpet also has been tip sheared to produce the dancing loose scroll pattern. This was designed to have different loop heights and the last step is to shear only the highest loop tops off and this creates the pattern. This is a definite trend in carpet that is taking over the industry. You get the beauty of the patterned (faux wool) carpet, and the wearability of a tightly woven no-nonsense, footprint free carpet.

This look is the new face of contemporary, all the hard edges are gone, luxurious and plush are words that come to mind, with warmer tones. The wood selections of Hi Gloss Cherry Wood with Lace Wood accents on the main deck and in the guest room Hi Gloss Cherry is accented with Maitore Burl,

Foyer Master and Guest Area:

As you enter the guest area at the bottom of the stairs you find yourself in a spacious foyer with beautiful art. The console is Hi Gloss Cherry with the first introduction of lower wood accent change, Maitore Burl on the face of the cabinet. The console top is an ivory marble called Pearlato Suevo that has the unique characteristic of ancient crushed seashells in it.

In the full beam, the king size master headboard wall is upholstered in Majilites newest baby "Nova Suede Basketweave Embossed". The commodious surroundings are also enhanced by the use of Shoji Screens that give a big window illusion on the lower deck. The stateroom also has his and hers heads with a center huge shower. The master bath is a combination of cherry cabinets with Emperadora Dark Marble on the floor with details of Pearlato Suevo Marble. The floor detail Pearlato Suevo is also on the vanity top and shower seat.

The shower enclosure is frameless glass system with the slightest pattern to give a discreet amount of privacy.

The port and starboard guest staterooms are mirror images of each other and both have room for a 3rd guest in the pullman. Both staterooms are elegant and straight forward, and repeat the same woods and accents as the foyer. Part of good design on a yacht is the use of repeating treatments and materials to create a rhythm and at the same time knowing when to create interest again.

The VIP stateroom is very posh. The island queen bed is across from a marquetry inlayed armoire with double doors. The bath vanity top is in Black Galaxy Granite and the floor is done in Pearlato Suevo with Black Galaxy accents. The same Shoji Screens are in this stateroom too and again it brings the light into the room.

Crew Area:

The crew area is forward and it is truly their haven. There is a Capt. stateroom, queen size, and a pair of bunks forward. There is a large head shared both staterooms. There is another washer dryer and across from that a spacious dinette for eating, paper work or relaxing.

Skylounge and Boat Deck:

This Yacht also has a skylounge accessible from the aft deck or the forward Main Salon. The staircase is located in the Main Salon to minimize guest traffic through the galley and also to feature the ribbon effect the cherry tread support gives as the stairs rise to the skylounge. There is also a floor to ceiling glass cabinet in the middle of the staircase that will house something very special. The skylounge has a small sofa, chair and ottoman and bar which creates an intimate seating area guests or work.

Aft of the skylounge is the boatdeck area which can handle a tender and (2) jet skis. There is also another large settee and table across from the grill. Just like the interior the exterior colors are all coordinated, the pewter tone for outside was pulled from the pewter color Awlgrip detail around the windows.
